

Head Teacher News

Today feels very strange because although school is quite quiet - we have an Inset day - I know that there is a lot of planning going on behind the scenes ready for our partial re-opening over the next week for Playgroup, Reception, Year 1 and Year 6 children who have said they would like to come back to school, even though it won't be like the experience we are used to.

Of course we are looking forward to seeing the children who will be back but also will be missing all of you who are not yet eligible to do so. You will all still have the same work to do on eSchools - whether you are in school or not, it just will be different where you are doing it! Because today is an Inset Day there is no work planned for you today - if you want to do something there is always Doodle Maths and maybe catching up with other work from last term.

For the last few weeks I explored "caring" with you through our STARS words of Skills, Team, Achieve, Respect and Success. This would have been my theme in assemblies. Over the next half term I will introduce you to a new element a week that again I would have been discussing in assembly - this week to be protected.

To be protected means many things - it could be either by the fire service, police or other people in society who have the job to carry out a protective role - but you will know that I would also expect all of us to protect and be protected.

For example, think about how you may have spotted something someone may have tripped up on and you moved it to keep them away from harm or perhaps if you found a beetle on the floor and moved it to a safer place, both are ways to protect.

At the moment everyone in the world has to play their part in keeping us all protected by the choices we make, for example washing our hands, staying 2 metres apart or not seeing people who may be at a health risk. It is difficult to protect at times and seems unfair when it is stopping you do things that you are desperate to do, however, it will be worth it in the end and then we can be back together as STARS.
